

Simplify the Journey™

with Integrated Solutions for Every Molecule at Any Stage

Complex drug development. Regulatory scrutiny. Changing standards. Combination products.

Whether you are developing a biologic, pharmaceutical, or generic product, West understands the challenges you face along the drug development journey because we live it with you. And for more than 95 years, we've been developing and refining our expertise to help our partners move from molecule to market.

That's why we're introducing our Integrated Solutions Program – a comprehensive approach that combines West's high-quality packaging and delivery products with our expert analytical testing, fill-finish services, device assembly and manufacturing, and regulatory support. With defined packages for Prescreen and Compatibility, Clinical Phase I, II and III, Lifecycle Management and Generics, we offer solutions at any stage of development, across all injectable formats.

Integrating products and services into one package with one partner can help you:

- Reduce development and supply risk
- Accelerate the path to market
- Minimize total cost of ownership
- Improve the patient experience

Primary Packaging. Delivery Systems. Support Services.

Partnering with customers at every stage of development
